THE GENESIS OF A WHITE RACIAL RELIGION

CREATIVITY

FORTY-ONE YEARS AND COUNTING

Exactly forty-one years has passed since the first print of Nature's Eternal Religion saw the light of day and became the beacon of new dynamic white racial religion known as Creativity. This month we don't just celebrate the Founding Day of our religion, we also celebrate the 96th birthday of our founder Ben Klassen, a man whose words made deep impact on all of us. Now, at the same time, we acknowledge that Klassen is not someone who invented Creativity as such, everything he wrote about was clear as day thousands of years ago, but unfortunately for some unknown reason, white man never realized it to the full. Until now. What is the real greatness of Ben Klassen? People might say "well he's not the first who started a religion or belief", and some will say "how can you compare Klassen with Jesus, Mohamed or Buddha, they were great thinkers with deep thoughts and messages". And I say, no, I can't compare him with them, which would be an insult to such a great man. First of all, all those three were muds, I simply can't compare white man with mud people, and second of all, Klassen lived in reality not in fantasy world. I may compare those three with Hans Christian Andersen, La Fontaine, Aesop or Grimm brothers maybe, but I am not going to do that either.

It is fairly easy to compile few fairy tales and suit them to your own ideas and needs and proclaim it as a religion. On the other hand, in Klassen's teachings we see no fantasy, no imagination, only hardcore facts that are the essence of nature and life. So, you can't alter it, you can't suit it to your needs as you will, because you can't change the nature's laws, you can only adapt yourself to them. And that is what Klassen did with his teachings; his writings are adaptations of nature's laws to suit the best interests of our great race. That is the greatness of his teachings. He didn't invent anything; he just molded the existing material and turned it into a monument.

I am not here to praise the man, even because Klassen himself was against personality cult, but I can't overlook the magnitude of his work. The years will still have to pass until majority of white race realizes what has happened on 21st of February 1973. The flame that was lit that day is still burning, but burning quietly, it is up to us to turn that flame into wildfire. It is up to you, my fellow comrades, to lit your own torches with that flame so that our kinsmen that are still not awaken can see the light in this world of darkness.

A Religious Alternative

When we attempt to convert our racial kindred to our religious creed, we often target a White audience which is splintered into a diverse range of ideological and economic classes, all of whom we seek to persuade and recruit to our cause. We often face various forms of ideological adversaries, for lack of a better term, as well. In terms of ideological rivals, we have the racially-conscious Christian, or CI adherent, who subscribes to a belief system based entirely upon a skewed, wishful interpretation of the Jewish bible and a desire to retain the concept of Christianity as a White Western religion. Concerning the aspect of potential recruits, regardless of geographic location, religious affiliation, or lack thereof, political identity (liberal vs. conservative, left vs. right), or economic income level, our target audience is typically comprised of the White whose pattern of thought has been befuddled by Jewish propaganda and brain pollution, and whose entire argument and belief system is based on the proclamations of Jewish liars, and the unsuspecting masses who echo their false claims.

Ideological Opposition:

Some within the White movement make the claim that Christianity has played a crucial part in our history as a people. They argue that the many magnificent historic classical European artwork and cathedrals were direct products that resulted from a Christian culture. Although the brilliant Renaissance artists and architects may have been inspired by x-insanity, the truth of the matter is that these marvelous innovations of aesthetic beauty can be attributed to White genetics, not some foreign, alien theology based entirely upon Semitic mythology. It is important to understand that White culture is the exclusive product of common concrete genetics, not some suicidal theology comprised of metaphysical, supernatural nonsense. These same Christian advocates often bring up past racial battles and conflicts, in which they assert that Christianity served as a focal motivational rallying point. For instance, they will commonly refer to the role Christianity played in the Crusades against the invading hordes of non-White Muslims, along with the social function served by many Southern Christian churches, which initially came out united in defiance against Jewish integration until they eventually reversed their policies and became fanatic promoters of racial miscegenation. Again, the reality of the situation is that any past instances in which Whites have bonded together as a positive force against the common enemy of the mud races, can rightfully be accredited to a healthy instinctive ability to self-identify from a natural racial perspective. This was done in spite of Christianity, not because of it. In fact, had Whites followed the actual teachings espoused by their Jewish messiah, Jewsus, the natural defense-mechanisms of racial identity and hate, necessary for sufficient resistance, would have been suppressed.

The obvious question still remains; why would any Christian care to fight for their race and a future for their people, when according to their biblical texts such a cause would be considered nothing more than an insignificant worldly affair? Wouldn't their concentrated collective time and efforts be better spent in preparation for the next, non-existent afterlife? As Rev. Logsdon has said, spiritual awareness and respect of our ancestral lineage and heritage, is a significant component to who we are as a people. But Christians need to understand that no good will come by looking to some imaginary bearded Jewish spook for answers.

The Average White:

Obviously some White people are more racially-aware than others, making them more open-minded and susceptible to what we have to say. For example, I know I would personally feel more confident in my likelihood of successfully getting thru to a White "Tea Party" member, than I would approaching a registered White democrat, or radical leftist. But a major hang-up with many Whites who self-identify as "conservative" is their religious devotion to the Zionist state of Israel, as well as many of their liberal (whether they know by definition such views are actually liberal or not) views on the issue of race. Many of the so-called “right wing values” have been brought about by Jewish psychological conditioning. With that said, many White Christian Conservatives can be just as hard to crack as their leftist counterparts. In regards to Christians and their Jewish theology, although Christianity remains the dominant religion of the Western world, secularism is on the rise. Thanks to recent developments and advances in modern science, large numbers of people are beginning to accept that Christianity is nothing more than looney anti-reality, religious fallacy and fairy tales. Unfortunately many Whites that have ultimately come to reject x-insanity, have replaced one poisonous psychological myth with another by embracing a negative form of atheism which entails a variety of dangerous, unnatural social theories such as nihilism, feminism, liberalism, egalitarianism, materialism, selfish individualism, and the same old altruistic tenants found within the suicidal teachings of Judeo-Christianity. Jewish Cultural Marxism accompanied with a steady dose of “Holocaustianity”, has emerged as the new dogmatic religion of modern society. Young, vulnerable White children are indoctrinated at an early age to despise anything and everything associated with Whiteness. They are told that they should feel ashamed of the evil deeds committed by their oppressive White ancestors. These psychologically abused youngsters eventually develop into self-loathing adults. Out of sheer guilt and ignorance, they actually become active, willing participants in the demise of their own culture and the extermination of the White Race.

We will continue to witness the daily crimes and outrages that have become a common occurrence in today’s sick, degenerate society. But these incidents ultimately contribute to the steady deterioration of the corrupt Jewish establishment. We must channel our natural feelings of intense hatred, anger, and frustration into positive forms of productive activism. Our people are not blind. They are rapidly beginning to realize that this Marxist multicultural state is not sustainable. And as more and more Whites come to this realization, they will be searching for an alternative.

The Alternative:

Thankfully there is a sound alternative to the malignant spiritual sickness that has infected our people, and that is the militant, revolutionary, White-racial religion of Creativity. Since discovering the dynamic creed of Creativity, I can honestly say that for the first time in my life, I am completely confident, beyond a shadow of a doubt or uncertainty, that my religious convictions are based upon reality and truth, and the assurance and satisfaction I feel is a wonderful, unrivaled feeling. To those of you reading this now, if you haven't already done so, I would wholeheartedly encourage you to read our Holy Books (available for online reading as well as PDF download), and I invite you to accept the light of truth and unite with us as one, under the sacred banner of Creativity. Pick up your sword and fight for the preservation of your White DNA, the precious sanctity of our blood. While Creativity may lack the literary romanticism of classical texts and font, devoid of any cliché biblical terminology, pronouns like thou, thy, and thee, and all the fancy imagery associated with Jewish Christ-insanity, it is the only religion that is based on the eternal laws of Nature, history, logic and common sense. Anyone so easily impressed or persuaded by the shallow pretexts previously mentioned, to the point that they would dismiss the factual content and offered solution contained within our creed, should likely be considered utterly useless anyways. I for one personally appreciate the direct, straightforward bluntness conveyed by Klassen in our religious texts.

The Creativity Movement

In summary, our argument is firmly rooted in REALITY, and as Creators, we will continue to confidently spread a truthful message of hope as the only viable, effective solution to combat the onslaught of problems we are currently facing as a race, and as an established blueprint to navigate future generations of our White offspring toward the glorious future originally envisioned by our dedicated founder, a vision of a Whiter and Brighter World.

Bernhardt Klassen

20 February 1918

6 August 1993

I became truly racially aware when I was around 16, but I was pretty much oblivious in how or why to become active. It wasn't until after a long brutal prison sentence, filled with stabbings, solitary confinements and quite frankly wars I fought in maximum security prison. That I emerged, determined to fight for my people in any way I could. I already came from gladiator school and experienced what it was to bleed for your convictions, many times and understood the hate/aggression one must muster to make others bleed in turn. I knew there was other more productive means waiting on the outside.

When I first became active with the church I was quite excited. Rev Hale was more than accommodating! He had me on the streets at least every other week sometimes every week. Holding flags and signs on street corners, putting out thousands of flyers, talking to people and meeting up with them. I lived an exciting life for those first several years. Went to concert after concert, demo after demo and rally after rally. I also lived an exciting personal life, working 40 to 50 hours a day running a framing crew, dealing with contractors, suppliers and home owners. After doing such a stint in prison I was no stranger to the ladies as well. To sum it up my life was very active in the real world. When I reached out to people there was no "e-mails". Other than to give them my number and make plans to meet up. It wasn't until I settled down and became a family man that I discovered the true sickening nature of what this movement has mutated into!

When my social life was limited because of family, kids and also economically as the building trade hit a brick wall, I found myself having to find other means to be active. This entails something I never wanted to get involved with and that is the internet. Up until this point I was completely oblivious to what was really going on, on the "net". Net, fitting term as it is a trap! But many who knew me at that time can tell you if I logged on to any site once a month it was rarity and even rarer if I posted. I even at one point when I lived in Florida completely rejected it, Rev Jacobs and others answered my emails. They would call me with anything important but outside of that I had no interest. If I wanted to read something, I would read the paper, order a magazine, read a book, etc. So many people would call and whine about this or that argument, this person said this and this person said that, blah, blah, blah. My response was, ok did they say it to your face, "well no", and I would always say "what does that have to do with reality?". It wasn't until later I realized, that is the "reality" most live in.

When I was forced because of my situation to enter this sad domain, I didn't realize what I was in store for. Seeing how people talked to one another and attacked one another. In MY reality that means you're actually fighting not going on and on. I was quite confused. Who are these people and why do they think they can talk to people this way? So when I was first victim to this obviously I wanted to track these people down. I even took a couple road trips, wasting money trying to find these people to see if their fists are as tough as their keyboards to no avail. I even invited these people out to events and to meet up, of course no takers. I would get, even angrier and lash out, hey I still do at times, to these people. Playing their game of who is tougher with "words". Usually when you call them out to "meet up" or to "back up" their words, then you are called a "thug", or as the common theme of the week a "degenerate skinhead".

The typical net nazi is very articulate with modern terms and comparisons from anti-white websites and slander he gathers from others. He knows how to make it personal, as he protects himself, as most, by hiding under anonymous usernames. He makes sure his bait is oblivious to how to, come at him. This is a common theme of Jews and communists and adapted by those who claim to be pro white. Many times, they are one in the same. For this is their only path to victory. Most of them are posers pretending to play white power from the safety of the computer screen, are in reality very pathetic individuals. They know how to point out failures as they live it every day!

Now through my years I have seen these individuals usually to be one or the other.

1. A middle aged divorce' or in most cases never married. Usually no kids or never was involved in raising the ones they had. They have lost the ability to be physically confrontational and never would when they were able. Their life has turned the corner and started its downhill slope. They do not contain the testicular fortitude to man up in their late age, as many REAL men do and become active outside their home. So they use the internet to give them a sort of self-entitlement, an ego boost from others for false sense of commitment and a place to vent and attack without any actual repercussions.
2. They are either teenagers or in their early twenties. In 95% most case still living with their parents. Spoiled most of their life's and well protected and provided for. They are either still in school or still reeling from high school days. In which they were picked on and alienated. They were socially awkward or cowardly from years of pampering and coddling. Their egos outside of reality were boosted by the parents. They get involved in pro white circles as a place to find friends and in turn find many just like them. They boost each other's egos and regurgitate news, ideology and politics to each other. When they find someone that doesn't agree with them, that won't boost their ego or won't be their "friend" they lash out. Here is where they find the ability to be that "tough" guy. I am sure they envision those who picked on them in school, when they lash out at their suspected prey. As most travel the Internet in packs, with multiple accounts they can team up on said person and seem as though they are not alone. They will never grow out of this until they either venture out into reality but not "our" reality and find a life in the main stream world finding a woman and becoming "joe blow". Forgetting about their "life" in the pro-white movement.

In some case the two coincide. A middle aged man, no kids, never married and yes still living with their parents. This, my brothers and sisters, is I would say 90% of the Internet world. If they cannot be validated in some way by the REAL world (meeting someone, real name, real action) then yes they fit this category.

So when we look at these people they are not too serious right? No it is a true sickness we have allowed for far too long! Out of desperation for numbers we have allowed our ranks on the Internet to be overwhelmed with these parasites. Allowing them to fill their sick, "false reality" needs, on our cause. It has weakened our cause and efforts and allowed other real people to fall in the trap of the NET. I understand in this modern age we rely heavy on the net but we must change certain standards. No more tolerance for those unwilling to operate outside the Internet. This isn't something we can convince the entire movement of, but at least we can start with our own. NO MORE tolerance of those who have never proven themselves OUTSIDE the Internet to earn notoriety, NO MORE tolerance of those who have never earned their "right of opinion" to give their opinion! NO MORE dealings with "anonymous" people or unproven personae!

Only way our cause and our great creed of Creativity is to flourish is in the real world in REALITY! Not in this net nazi reality these parasites have mutated our cause into. DEFY TECHNOLOGY EMBRACE REALITY!!!
RAHOWA!

Rev James Logsdon

Many pro white organizations are basically clubs. We jokingly refer to this trend as "5 guys meeting in somebody's basement." They gather once or twice a month...at one of their homes. They like their race and their various philosophies, and that's about the extent of it.

In the "club" model, they gather for a while. They really get nowhere. Their families aren't really involved. The guys sort of like each other, but really...racialism is the thing they most have in common. Their friends and coworkers may not even know they are racially aware. After a while, some of them wander off...or get pissed off about something, and the club stops meeting. The "club" model does not provide creativity with a future. A ministry should be a close knit. It should be families gathering together. Spouses, children, men, and women coming together as an extended family. Caring for each other, looking out for each other's interests, coming to each other's aid. Deep friendship/kinship should develop between the members. The children should come to see the other children as brothers and sisters they see each other so much.

Someone moves, everyone shows up and helps. A deck needs building, everyone shows up and helps. A parent is sick; another family should offer to take the kids for a bit. Someone needs a job, everyone keeps their eye out for one and actively helps them find one. Members of the local church should be talking almost every day. They should know what's going on in each other's lives. They should be the people we turn to when we want to laugh, or cry, or exciting news to tell.

And a ministry should have goals. They should be actively working to promote creativity, both locally, and around the region. They should be pooling money, with a goal to buy land and physical church. They should be getting to know the creators in neighboring communities, through modern communications and by visiting them face-to-face. The ministry should be working to leave their children with a more stable and developed movement, than we currently have.

A ministry should be a family...not a club. An extended family that we see and treat as family. Given a choice between "5 guys meeting in a basement," and a growing, involved, dedicated, goal-oriented ministry...there really is no choice. I'll take the family model.

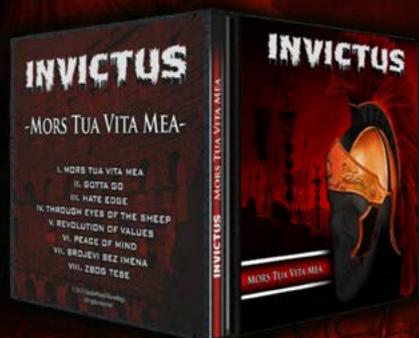

Now some will say, but we don't have a ministry in our area. Or they'll say, there aren't enough interested creators in my area. Well, there's no excuse for accepting that condition as the status quo. One should work for it, and never give up. Look for other racist in every way possible. Offer creator study groups. Talk to your friends and family about your beliefs. Accept nothing less, than working towards forming and growing a local ministry...and establishing a church in your area. It won't happen overnight, but nothing worthwhile happens overnight.

Klassen's Teachings:
The Genesis of a White Racial Religion

Impetium

The idea of a comprehensive, fully structured racial religion for our people now fully preoccupied my thinking. For reasons that baffle me unto this day, the White Race had never had a meaningful racial religion of its own. To try to find out why at every turn in our struggle for racial Identity Christianity seemed to block our way, I took a new, hard look at this Jewish religion adopted by our people. There had to be something in it, I surmised, that I must have missed. Having had it drilled in to me at Sunday school, and having listened to an endless number of boring sermons in church, I was fairly well informed about the contents of the bible. True, when I was seventeen, I had taken Ancient History One in college, and studied other civilizations and their religions, I had come to the obvious conclusion that Christianity was just another religion among thousands, religions that had come and gone, and was now one amongst the debris of thousands of others that were still around.

However, although I didn't believe in such superstitious claptrap, I wasn't hostile to Christianity as such. Like most people, I accepted that some of its moral values probably had merit, but much of it was nothing more than silly hocus-pocus. Nor did I give much thought to its Jewish origins, and I had no reason to doubt the claim that such a character as Jesus Christ once lived. Like Mohammed and others, I took it for granted that Christ had been some religious fanatic who went around the countryside preaching his wild claims. For some strange reason that I couldn't understand, his stuff had caught on, was then later promoted and exploited by his successors into a powerful movement, I assumed.

Be that as it may, at this particular time my curiosity was aroused as to WHY Christianity was blocking our every turn. I decided to re-read the New Testament and take a closer look to find out just what it was that I had missed. It didn't take me very long to get my answer. Within 10 minutes, I came to Matthew 5, 6 and 7, and the Sermon on the Mount. To my amazement I read, "Love your enemies." "Sell all thou hast and give it to the poor." "Turn the other cheek." "Blessed are the meek." I had read and heard it a hundred times before, but this time I knew what I was looking for and I realized the treachery of the booby-trap that was open before my eyes. This is crazy! This is the kind of suicidal advice you would give your worst enemies if you wanted them to destroy themselves, I thought. Why hadn't I realized that before? How could I have missed the poison in this seemingly benign teaching? And this was the crux of our innermost "faith"? How stupid can you get? How come no one else had pointed this atrocity out to me?

I had now put my finger on the crux of the problem. It now opened the door to a whole plethora of new questions and answers. Christianity was deliberately designed to enslave and destroy the White Race! Who had written all this balderdash? Why, the Jews! All the Apostles were Jewish. St. Paul, the most prominent writer of all was really Saul of Tarsus, another Jew. Christ himself was a Jew, the bible claimed.

Impetium

I studied further. I read up on Christ in my encyclopedia. To my amazement, the encyclopedia flatly acknowledged that regarding the "historicity" of Christ there was no historic evidence that he ever existed, in fact, all the information we had about him came from only one source, the Scriptures. Wow! That was another major discovery as far as I was concerned. The whole story was a fable, like Mother Goose and Santa Claus. And who wrote this whole shoddy mess? A passel of Jewish scribblers, whose identity is unknown and unverified. Undoubtedly, they were cunning, deceitful and characteristically Jewish, but scientifically these desert tribesmen who wrote the Old Testament as well as the New, were so ignorant they did not even know the earth was round, nor that it traveled in an orbit about the sun.

After these major breakthroughs, more information came flooding in, and the pieces to the puzzle began to fit nicely into an orderly mosaic. I further read Marcus Eli Ravage's piece, "A Real Case Against The Jews", written in 1928. In his article, this audacious Jew openly bragged how cleverly the cunning Jew, Saul of Tarsus, nearly nineteen hundred years ago had conspired a means to torpedo the great Roman Empire by feeding it a self-destructive new religion, namely Christianity. He further chortled how brilliantly it had been conceived and executed. It had succeeded beyond their fondest dreams, he said. He further gloated that by means of Christianity they, the Jews, had conquered us goyim as no people in history had ever been conquered before. "We have put a clog on your progress. We have imposed upon you an alien book and an alien faith which you cannot swallow and cannot digest, which is at cross-purposes with your native spirit, which keeps you everlastingly ill at ease, and which you lack the spirit to either reject or accept in full. "

I further studied the peculiar characteristics of the Judaic religion itself, and that too, was revealing. The Jews do not really believe in, or care about, the hereafter. I found that their religion was basically a tightly organized criminal conspiracy, deliberately tailored to fit their parasitic way of life. It was designed to unify the Jews in an unending war of plunder against the goyim, their term for cattle, but meaning us Gentiles. Their basic goal is now, and has been for the last four thousand years, to enslave the goyim, to exploit them for their own gain, and to usurp unto themselves all the gold, real estate and wealth of the world.

To my horror, I discovered that not only was such their objective, but they had already come a long way towards achieving that sinister goal. But the most treacherous and deadly essence of that program was their obsession for the mongrelization and genocide of the White Race, whom they regard as their most hated enemy. In this, too, they were making rapid and astounding progress, I discovered, much to my alarm.

Impetium

Why would they want to mongrelize and destroy the White Race? Because, they reasoned ruthlessly, and correctly so, that as long as an intelligent White Race remained, their foul conspiracy could at any time blow up in their face. The White people of the world might discover their foul conspiracy, as did Hitler in Germany, organize and turn on the Jews. They, the Jews, are now sitting on a powder keg, and they know it. Therefore, it behooves them to mongrelize and destroy the White Race as quickly as possible. Once the world population is reduced to a mass of stupid brown mongrels, they are home safe, the Jews conclude. These zombie slaves will then be too stupid to ever organize, or revolt and shake off their slave masters, but will make nice, docile work animals.

I felt I had made as much of a major break-through as if I had discovered a new world. Yes, indeed, what the White Race now needed was a powerful new dynamic RACIAL RELIGION of its own. If a scurvy racial religion such as Judaism could propel a measly, parasitic race such as the Jews into world domination, just imagine what a well conceived; fully structured racial religion could do for the intelligent, creative and productive White Race! So I reasoned. We should also remember that we still number some 500 million individuals, and outnumber the Jews by 30 to 1. Why had no such religion ever come forward before now, I wondered. What a difference it would have made in the demographic history of the world if the Egyptians had had it, or the Greeks, or the Romans! Why hadn't they? Was it perhaps too late now? No, I decided, it wasn't too late, if we get busy and do now what we should have done long ago. Yes, I decided, I would try to put such a racial religion together. Its basic goal would be the survival, expansion and advancement of the White Race alone and exclusively, barring all others. I would immediately start writing such a book. I felt I was already armed with a whole warehouse full of potent ideas upon which such a religion could be built, and new concepts kept flooding in.

Austin Davis at this time was still regularly attending Pastor Wes Augerís Calvary Baptist Church, and considered himself a born-again Christian who would some day go to heaven. As I discussed all these newly discovered ideas with him, he tenaciously kept defending Christianity. After all, he argued, it was the White Man's traditional and well-established religion. Maybe so, I countered, but it was invented by the Jews, rejected by them and foisted on the White Man, and look where they are today, and look where we are. I kept working on him. Finally, one day as we were sitting in the bookstore drinking coffee, I asked him, do you really believe we should love our enemies, such as the Jews? That you should sell all thou hast and give it to the niggers? That you should turn the other cheek? Finally Austin broke down and answered honestly. No, I don't. From that day on he was completely de-programmed from all that Christian garbage and became one of its most vociferous critics.

As I contemplated writing my book, I asked myself, what should be the basis of our beliefs? What could I trust and really believe in? When I was a kid I had been deceived about Santa Claus, but after all, that was only child's play. I had also been snookered about our basic religion, Christianity, from early childhood, I now realized. That was not child's play - it was a major and lasting deception. That I did not find so easy to forgive. I had been deceived by the John Birch Society as to what their real goals were. I had been duped by the Republican Party. I had been lied to by George Wallace. I had been deluded and let down by the members of the American Independent Party. In fact, "our" government on the local, state and national level was one big fraud and swindle, manipulated by our most deadly enemies, the Jews. I asked myself again and again, wasn't there anything firm and real? Wasn't there anything honest and unchanging that I could believe in and depend on? As I pondered the question, the answer came through, loud and clear - yes, there was! I could believe in the Eternal Laws of Nature. I could depend on her laws forever and a day. Having come to that conclusion, a number of other questions and answers rapidly emerged.

What did Nature have to tell us? The answer was much, and everything. One basic lesson Nature taught us was that every species first and foremost takes care of its own, in the face of all hostility and/or competition. Each species seeks to reproduce its own kind, expand its own numbers and territory, and at the same time advance itself genetically in order to better compete in the eternal struggle for survival. Also inherent in Nature's laws was the principle of the segregation of the species. Each species mated only with its own particular species or sub-species. There was no interbreeding. Although bluebirds and cardinals might both be birds, they never interbreed. Although canvasback ducks and pintail ducks both belonged to the duck family, and even built nests around the same lake, they too never interbreed and mixed their genes. Nature forbade it. Any species that flouted those laws was ruthlessly punished with the ultimate penalty - extinction. I came to realize that all knowledge and wisdom was derived from a close observation of the Laws of Nature, and even though the lesser animals may not have as highly a developed intellect as man, nevertheless, Nature in her wisdom had imbued them with a highly developed instinct to perform in harmony with her laws. In taking care of their own they usually carried out those laws and their mission in life with a great deal more wisdom and efficiency than did man.

This brought up the question, how was mankind performing in accordance with these natural laws? Specifically, how was the White Race, Nature's Finest and the pinnacle of her evolutionary process doing? When I asked that question in the framework of the last half of the present century, the answer came through loud and clear - we were performing dismally. We were doing far worse than the lowly mosquito, in fact. We were flagrantly flouting Nature's most basic laws, all in the name of a treacherous Jewish religion. Would Nature also punish her Finest with extinction? The answer was a clear and unequivocal yes, we were definitely on our way to extinction unless we rapidly and drastically changed course.

During May and June of 1971 I haltingly started writing my book, stumbling as I went along. I hadn't decided on a title as yet, but was contemplating on one of two options. I would either call it Nature's Eternal Religion, or, The White Man's Bible. I had not as yet conceived the proper name for our racial religion, nor the framework of our organization. But all that could come later. I was loaded for bear and first things first.
